Jesus in the Market

The verses you've listed span a wide range of topics and events from the New Testament. For instance, Galatians 2:16 discusses justification by faith and not by works, while John 18:20 highlights Jesus' openness about his teaching. Matthew 21:42, Mark 12:38, and Luke 20:46 deal with Jesus' teachings and parables. 2 Corinthians 4:10 and 1 Corinthians 1:2 focus on the themes of suffering and sanctification in Christ. The nativity story is touched upon in Matthew 2:1, and the return of Christ is the central theme of 2 Thessalonians 1:12 and Revelation 1:9. Colossians 3:17 encourages doing everything in the name of Jesus, giving thanks to God.

Acts 9:27 recounts Barnabas vouching for Saul (Paul) in Jerusalem, and 1 Thessalonians 1:1 is the greeting in Paul's letter to the Thessalonians.

Healing and miracles are present in Luke 5:19 and Mark 6:56. Luke 2:27 and Luke 13:14 describe events from Jesus' early life and his teachings on the Sabbath, respectively. The transformation brought by the gospel is a theme in 2 Corinthians 4:6, and John 13:1 depicts Jesus' love for his disciples. Fellowship in the light of God is discussed in 1 John 1:7, and the endurance of the Thessalonian church in the face of persecution is highlighted in 1 Thessalonians 2:14.

Acts 18:25 shows Apollos' knowledge of the scriptures and his fervent spirit. The crucifixion narratives are found in John 19:20 and Mark 15:1. Philippians 3:3 speaks of worship by the Spirit of God and glorying in Christ Jesus. Finally, the verses from Luke detail various teachings and interactions of Jesus, from addressing the teachers of the law to healing those who touched him.

Each of these verses offers a glimpse into the teachings, the life of Jesus, the early church, and the apostolic letters that form a significant part of Christian doctrine and practice. They reflect the diversity and depth of the New Testament, covering historical events, theological discussions, moral instructions, and prophetic revelations. The compilation of these verses could serve as a foundation for a comprehensive study of New Testament theology and Christology.
